

Our Polar Bear Report

By Judah and Harry

Type of animal

Polar bears are a type of mammal.

What they look like

Polar bear skin is actually black. Their fur is transparent.

What they eat

They eat seabirds, fish eggs, reindeer and berries.

Where they live

Polar bears are found in the frozen wilds of the Arctic in Canada.

Other interesting facts

When polar bears are spotted in groups, they are called a pack or a sleuth.

Polar bears sense of smell is incredibly strong.

